We are pleased to offer the Child Nutrition Program Administration (CNPA) overview course for local school nutrition directors and managers in three sessions for summer 2016. We are announcing these courses early to facilitate your planning and to allow time to determine fiscal year budgetary allowances. Although designed for child nutrition personnel who have been in their positions for two years or less, the course is also open to those who would like a review of key child nutrition administration topics.

This course provides new staff with basic information on the importance of healthy meals and describes applicable federal and state regulations, thereby decreasing the risk of fiscal sanctions that can result from noncompliance. The course provides a wonderful opportunity to connect and network with fellow food services professionals. In addition, the CNPA provides a learning environment to discuss problems and identify strategies with colleagues statewide. The course provides 32-continuing education hours for Professional Standards. Due to the popularity of this course, participation is limited to one person per sponsor, as well as only to those who have not attended this course in the last three years.

Topics include:

- Federal and state regulations
- Procurement requirements
- Meal pattern requirements
- Fiscal systems
- Student nutrition and wellness policies
- Sanitation and food safety
- Human resources management
- Marketing practices
